

Lisa for purchasing:

All I have to report is that:

We are still waiting for the replacement metal inset to arrive from Holland.

I have stalking Montessori Outlet for the missing triangle and the replacement botany cards.

I had a Usborne book party and we obtained $50 in free books for the classroom. (If appropriate, mention that I would do more parties at somebody else's house(s) if they wanted to donate some or all of their free books to the classroom.)

New catalogs are starting to arrive. J

Natalie for Events.

Kid's Dance:

The original plan to have the dance on May 5th could still be possible, however, not only is time running out for advertising the event (how did that happen?! time is escaping me these days) BUT also I realized that my choir performs on both nights (4th & 5th) that weekend which makes it a little more difficult for me.... It'll be hard for me to organize my time efficiently enough to accommodate both things and maintain a low level of stress. I'm also not all that comfortable with the idea of leaving my <$1000. of equipment under someone else's responsibility as I would have to leave the dance before it was over...

So I'm putting it out there - how does everyone else feel? Are there any other dates we could do... in May? Is June too late?
